STRATEGY AGAINST JAPAN

Back in 1937-38, Adm. William Leahy, now chief of staff to the White House, devised a strategy against Japan, which, if put into effect, might have prevented Pearl Harbor and even World War II.

Today, the old Leahy strategy is being dusted off, especially on Capitol Hill, as the best means of finishing the war with Japan. It would save thousands of American lives, its proponents claim, and would serve as an example of how wars can be won—or prevented—by naval blockade.

The proposals made by Admiral Leahy constitute one of the most important and unwritten chapters in the history of what happened shortly before the war began. Leahy, then chief of naval operations and one of the best strategists the navy has seen in years, saw all too clearly what was coming both in Europe and Asia. At that time, 1937, Japan had just begun her full-scale invasion of China, and it was Leahy's idea to make an example of Nippon which would show Hitler and Mussolini — then feeling their oats — that the United States meant business and would stand four-square behind the peace machinery of the world.

Therefore, he proposed to Roosevelt a naval blockade of Japan in cooperation with the British fleet, using the peace machinery of the League of Nations and the nine-power pact which guarantees the sovereignty of China.

Leahy argued that by keeping the U. S. Navy in the Philippines and the British fleet at Singapore, we could cut off all oil, scrap iron, copper, cotton and other war materials from Japan. Without these, he argued, the Japanese war machine would be powerless and would fold up in six months. Leahy figured that the United States would lose its gunboats on the Yangtze river, but that aside from this the main U. S. fleet would not have to fire a single shot.

British Start Blockade.

President Roosevelt agreed. So did the British. And in the late summer of 1937, the British actually detailed 6 battleships, 12 cruisers and 20 destroyers to leave British home waters for Singapore. Just at that moment, however, the axis capitals apparently got wind of what was happening, and Mussolini started his unofficial submarine campaign off the coast of Spain which detained the British fleet at Gibraltar.

The Panay Incident.

At any rate, the plan to blockade Japan, following the failure of the Brussels conference in October, 1937, was dropped. But Admiral Leahy revived it again a year later, when, in December, 1938, the Japs sank the U. S. Gunboat Panay and the British Gunboat Ladybird.

Leahy recognized this for what it was, a deliberate attempt by the Jap war lords to test out how much insult the United States would take, and to make Britain and the USA lose face with the Chinese. Accordingly he rushed to the state department and all one Sunday afternoon, December 13, 1938, one day after the sinking of the Panay, he urged Cordell Hull to seize this psychological moment to put the blockade of Japan into effect.

The British were also willing to cooperate. And, Leahy pointed out, in another year, war, inevitably breaking out in Europe, would tie up the British fleet and they could not possibly help us in the Pacific. Russia, he also pointed out, had 60 submarines at Vladivostok, ready to help us cut off all scrap iron, all oil, all cotton and copper from Japan. Without these, he argued, the Japanese war machine would be paralyzed.

Pacing the floor of Hull's office with Leahy was Hugh Wilson, ex-ambassador to Germany and one of the state department's foremost appeasers. He opposed Leahy at every turn, finally convinced cautious Cordell Hull that Leahy was too vigorous, that it was best to appease Japan.

Less than one year later, Hitler had invaded Poland, the British fleet was desperately needed to defend British home waters, and the fat was in the fire. From that point on there was no possible way the United States could blockade Japan—though many people have never understood why we went to the opposite extreme and increased our shipments of oil and scrap iron to Japan so that she laid in tremendous reserves before Pearl Harbor.

Japan Can Be Starved.

But beginning with V-E Day, the possibility of blockading Japan for the first time since 1939 was completely reversed. Since V-E Day, the British fleet is entirely free to operate in the Pacific. So are Russian submarines. So is the whole might of the U. S. Navy, now no longer needed to watch for submarines in the Caribbean or the Atlantic.

Today it is possible to throw up such a naval blockade around the main Jap islands, augmented by air patrols, that hardly a ton of raw materials could reach Jap factories.

Furthermore, Japan has [illegible]

Pundita Circle Observes Annual Guest Day

Pundita Circle members entertained their guests in the community hall, Wednesday, May 23. The committee for the day included Mrs. Stanley Smith, Mrs. George Rucker, Mrs. Rose Hanger, Mrs. Leslie Davidson, Mrs. George Smith, Jr., Mrs. Wendell Thomas and Mrs. D. H. Cramer.

The room was most artistically decorated by Mrs. George Smith and Mrs. J. J. Pardee. The president, Mrs. Stanley Smith welcomed the guests and turned the meeting over to the program chairman, Mrs. Rucker, who introduced the visiting presidents of their clubs, and the wives of the new high school and grammar school principals. Mrs. M. E. Purmort explained the meaning of and the reason why Pundita Circle was so named. Mrs. M. Martin, accompanied by Mrs. John Duncan sang two songs which were greatly enjoyed.

Dr. Victor Peterson then gave a most instructive and interesting talk on plastics. The committee served refres- The committee served refreshments and the meeting adjourned until June 6 which will be a picnic at the J. J. Pardee home.

Campbell Wac In Anniversary Ceremonies

Allied Force Headquarters, Caserta, Italy—The third anniversary of the Women's Army Corps was fittingly celebrated by more than 500 Wacs who are members of the largest WAC installation in this theater on the late afternoon of May 14.

Long lines of Wacs massed on the parade grounds and stood retreat. Then with military precision, the companies passed in review before high ranking officers.

After the review, the new battalion service center was officially opened. This center, for use of AFHQ Wacs and their guests, offers every facility for recreation and the pursuit of leisure time activities.

Among the AFHQ who passed in review were representatives of every state. Many of the Wacs had been on duty in this theater for 28 months—the longest overseas service of any Wacs, while the majority proudly wore three golden strips, symbolical of 18 months foreign duty.

Campbell was represented by T/4 Felma A. Livacich of Latimer avenue.

Guild Meets Thursday

The general Woman's Guild of the Campbell Congregational church will hold a regular meeting in the church parlors, Thursday afternoon, June 7 at 2 o'clock. All members and friends are urged to be present as this is the last meeting before the summer recess. Group 3 wil be hostess.

Mrs. Orlena B. Lee formerly of San Jose, now Los Angeles, visited with her cousin, Mrs. A. J. Lessard, Alice avenue, for several days last week.

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat
SOURCES OF STRENGTH
WAR HAS A WAY OF TESTING A NATION'S RESOURCES AND THE QUALITIES OF ITS PEOPLE. OUR NATURAL RESOURCES ARE A SOURCE OF STRENGTH BUT IT IS THE INVENTIVE AND PRODUCTIVE GENIUS OF OUR PEOPLE THAT IS RESPONSIBLE FOR SUCH MIRACLES AS EXPLOSIVES FROM THE AIR—RUBBER FROM THE OIL WELLS—AND MAGNESIUM FROM THE SEA.
THRIFT IS ANOTHER CHARACTERISTIC OF OUR PEOPLE THAT HAS CONTRIBUTED TO THE DEVELOPMENT OF OUR RESOURCES. MANY OF OUR INDUSTRIES BOTH GREAT AND SMALL WERE BUILT BY THE THRIFTY USE OF PROFITS "PLOWED BACK" INTO THE BUSINESS—AS WELL AS THE INVESTMENT OF PEOPLE'S SAVINGS. THE MONEY WE PUT INTO WAR BONDS, SAVINGS ACCOUNTS AND LIFE INSURANCE IS NOT ONLY SECURITY FOR OUR FUTURE BUT, THROUGH CREATING CAPITAL RESOURCES, IS A FORCE IN EXPANDING THE PRODUCTIVE POWER OF AMERICA.

Rural Schools Organize 391 Victory Gardens

Some weeks ago, because of the urgent request of the food department of our government, students of the Campbell, Cambrian, Union and Moreland schools were interested in planting victory gardens.

M. C. Ralston of the agricultural department of Campbell Union High school, as a member of the county committee, organized the work under a teacher in each of the schools, and there are now 391 victory gardens.

Mr. Ralston sent out 21 letters to local organizations asking for contributions of money or merchandise to be awarded as prizes to the young gardeners for the best gardens, as a means of stimulating interest. The response was rather disappointing as only two clubs and two business houses responded, the total amount being $22.50 in cash and $10 in merchandise. Unless this amount is divided into exceedingly small awards only a few youngsters can receive anything and the judges will have a hard job to determine which ones are entitled to receive a prize.

If anyone who overlooked the letters, or any others would like to add a little to this fund to reward some young patriot, contact James W. Dent, principal, or Mr. Ralston at the high school.

Country Woman's Club Picnic Monday

The Country Woman's Club will hold its annual picnic at Los Gatos park next Monday, June 4th. If the weather is inclement the members will picnic in the club room. Members are requested to bring table service: plate, cup, and silverware, and be ready to leave the club house by 12:30 p. m. Mrs. Ralph Hyde is general chairman of arrangements for this final club gathering.

Local Fruit Plants Expand for '45 Season

The coming fruit season will find Campbell plants with increased facilities for handling the crops.

The Campbell Cooperative Drier is constructing twelve additional tunnels on the ground south of the former Hyde cannery which was part of the large dry yard belonging to that cannery.

A steel frame addition to the Drew Canning Co. plant, 160 by 200 feet is well under way to completion by July. It will be used by peach cutters and peeling machines. The new building will make room for some 400 employees in the height of the season.

Additional parking space is also being provided.

Local Red Cross Makes Appeal For Laprobe Workers

The National Red Cross has sent out a most urgent plea for a thousand laprobes for veterans' hospital use for wheel chair patients. So Mrs. Archie Keesling, local Red Cross chairman is asking that the ladies who have been working on these robes will continue thru the summer, either at home or at the Red Cross sewing rooms.

The rooms are open Wednesday and Friday afternoons in the I.O.O.F. hall and upstairs in the Curry Block.

If any one wishes to cut out the pieces at home, the size is 4 by 6 inches and the completed robe is 40 by 40 inches.

Men's old coats and other woolen materials are used, the pieces crocheted around the edges and then fastened together. Yarn is available at the Red Cross rooms.

If anyone has material to donate when the rooms are not open it may be left with Mrs. Wm. Billings, second house south of the library, on First street.

Community Council Elects Officers

The Campbell Community Council met in annual meeting last Wednesday evening at the home of the retiring president, Mrs. G. E. Jeffers.

The annual financial report of the secretary-treasurer, Ethan E. Lanphear was accepted.

Herbert M. Shadle who was the manager of the 1944 combined War and Community Chest campaign was elected president of the council for the ensuing year.

The resignation of Mr. Lanphear as secretary-treasurer after several years of very satisfactory service was accepted with regrets and Mrs. Harry F. Cousins was elected to fill that office.

Mr. Shadle reported that the set up for the War Chest drive this fall is on the same system, nationally, state and county as that of last year, and that Campbell's quota will not be changed materially, if any.

Some discussion was held regarding the local chest but no decisions were made as a budget committee will be appointed by the president to make a report at another meeting when the budget will be set.

Local Man Aboard Aircraft Carrier At Okinawa

Aboard an Aircraft Carrier in the Pacific—James Marcellus Breedlove, gunner, USNR whose wife lives at 51 Dillon avenue, Campbell, was aboard this Essex class aircraft carrier when her planes battered Okinawa prior to the Marine and Army landings.

With other units of the Pacific Fleet, this ship sent out her planes in a long series of sweeps and strikes that blasted enemy aircraft, shore installations and shipping from the Ryukyu Islands to the Japanese homeland.

Veteran Pacific fighters aboard the ship consider the recent action among the severest of the war in the Pacific.

Relatives and friends may pay for the subscriptions provided the servicemen themselves initiated the requests.

Copies mailed in fulfillment of subscriptions which are unexpired shall be accepted until the subscription expires. Publishers mailing such copies shall include with the address a certificate reading: "Mailed in conformity with P.O.D. Order No. 27851."

School Choir To Entertain Kiwanis Club

Rev. William Kennedy was guest speaker at Tuesdays Kiwanis meeting, his subject "Peace", Rev. D. H. Baldwin, chairman.

The speaker gave a very interesting discourse on Peace as it pertains to all of the peoples of the World and what we must all endeavor to obtain it. He dwelt briefly on the present San Francisco conference and stated that as such it was not enough to insure permanent peace even though it was a necessary instrument toward peace.

Visitors were George Place of Los Gatos and District Attorney Avilla.

Next week the High School Choir will present a program and D. H. Cramer will preside.

(Received too late for last week)

W. H. (Bill) Weeks was chairman of the Kiwanis meeting of May 22.

As was anticipated, the Campbell High School Band under the leadership of Frank Triena lived up to all of the expectations. To make the entertainment more effective, the band assembled on the lawn in front of the Club house and not only did the Kiwanis members enjoy the concert but it was heard around town. These youngsters can certainly play and they all enjoy it to the utmost. The leader as well as each member of the band deserves congratulations.

The club enjoyed a visit from Lt. Glenn DuBois, a Campbell boy who served with the Air Corps in England. Glenn answered many questions and gave a brief and interesting summary of his flying experiences.

Last week's meeting on Thursday was well attended by both Los Gatos and Campbell members who thoroughly enjoyed an interesting discussion on the trees in the coastal area by Dr. Victor Peterson of San Jose State college.

Visitors were Frank Abernathy and Mr. McGlaughlin of San Jose.

Poppy Sale Is Great Success

The Campbell American Legion Auxiliary held its first Poppy Sale this year, and although one of the youngest units in the district, sold twenty-five hundred poppies within a few hours, and could have sold several hundred more had they been available. Many expressed their disappointment at not being able to secure a poppy.

The unit wishes to express its sincere thanks to the citizens of Campbell and vicinity, the employees of the Drew Canning Company and West Coast Dehydrator Company, and also to the employees of the Construction Company, which is building the addition for the Campbell Cooperative Drier, on South First street. The public, by its most generous contribution, has made it possible for the Unit to turn the work among our disabled Veterans.

A marriage license was issued last week to David Ramsey, 27, and Fannie Parsons, 35 both of Campbell.

KEEP THOSE ISLANDS!

Out beyond Hawaii, in the Gilberts, the Marshalls and the Marianas, lie the islands whose defenseless shores nearly lost this war for us at its very beginning.

Stretching on west to the China Coast, south to New Guinea and north to the shores of Nippon, are larger islands, the heart and core of Japan's aggressive campaign. Today they are being bought dearly by American boys, and paid for in blood.

When this war is finished, those islands should be held by the United States, for the price is far too high to have to pay twice.

Those that might be required in any future struggle against Jap conquest should be retained irrespective of what any other Nation may think about it. And those that are owned by an Ally should be bought or negotiated for if imperative to such a defense. Many of the rampart islands are thoroughly worthless except for military purposes, and their acquisition and control could scarcely be considered a grab for precious new territory or aggrandizement.

But even if their retention by the United States were so considered, we believe with Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King that it is time the U. S. abolished the policy of fighting, building and graciously giving away. Our own strategic defense should be the criterion. And the cost of our misplaced trust in Japanese mandates should be the only necessary incentive for holding onto that ahrd-earned shield of islands in the Pacific!

BUDGET TIME

The time for making up the local budget is with us again. And it is a time when all citizens should be very alert. After all, they are the ones—both property owners and those who rent—who are going to foot the bill in one way or another.

Probably there never was a time when the pressure for higher expenditures was more intense. Postwar projects, pay increase for public employees, more extensive welfare activities, additional recreational facilities—the demand for all these is putting a sharp strain on the community purse and on the temper of the taxpayer as well.

While many of the proposed items which would swell the budget are laudable in purpose, the fact remains that every community must realize that it cannot support a "champagne" appetite on a "beer" income. In other words, towns and cities must budget according to what they can afford, not according to what they would like to have.

If we are to have economy in government—and it was never more imperative—that economy must be exercised by all subdivisions of government. Not the least of these is the local administration.

Today individual Americans are doing without many items and services they once took for granted. They are streamlining their finances, cleaning up old debts, investing in War Bonds, building up bank savings accounts. In short, they are rationing for final victory.

Governments, like individuals, cannot live beyond their means indefinitely. The man sees to it that he saves something out of his income as a hedge against future needs. Community administrations should make greater efforts to do the same thing.

MORE GAS!

"More gas."

Sweet words, especially when they're official. And they are. Each thirsting "A" card holder will receive six gallons for each coupon due after June 21 instead of four.

Well, its encouraging to see that our victory in Europe is paying off in some small dividends on the home front. This extra allotment of gas, however, should not lead us to think that the need for gas conservation is past.

Gasoline requirements are still tremendous. The amount of fuel needed for transporting the mountains of war materials destined for the Pacific is astronomical. Here in California, which will act as the funnel through which supplies and men will be poured into the Pacific, the gasoline demand will be especially heavy. This follows from the fact that trucks must move the bulk of the tonnage to the docks. Trucks also handle two-thirds of all California's intrastate commerce, a large part of which is war goods.

It is obvious, then, that the demand for essential gasoline for our fighting forces and for the vehicles to move supplies to them remains great. So, let's enjoy our extra allotment, but let us remember that "gas powers the attack" and that we shouldn't waste a drop of it.

NEVADA DIVORCES

The decision of the U. S. Supreme Court which, in effect, told other States that they could invalidate Nevada divorces, providing Reno's quickie decrees are obnoxious to them, undoubtedly has caused a flutter of aprehension in thousands of happy homes which have some of Nevada's shifting sands in their marital foundations.

While the high court's verdict seems to insure a prosperous postwar future for the law business, it also has its more serious implications—one of them being that what constitutes legal marital bliss in one State may be adjudged just plain bigamy in another.

Even at the risk of causing serious injury to one of the leading industries in our sister State of Nevada, it would appear that Congress should get busy and enact a uniform national divorce law. Otherwise the state of matrimony is likely to be a mixed state of affairs, with 48 possible variations.

THIS IS IT

For a long time now we have known that once Germany was out of the war San Francisco and her neighbors would become the storm center of the Pacific war. Well, Germany is out, and the final push of the war is being prepared and staged here and now.

The signs are plentiful. Ship building is being reorganized to take care of expected repair work of the grand battle. Traffic last month doubled on the Bay Bridges. Longer and many more trains began their movements to Pacific Ports. Most of what goes on cannot be told—except to say that events of first magnitude are taking place here. In a few months the present frantic hustle and bustle which now characterize our port of embarkation will seem, by comparison, like the deserted village. The heat will be on, and in earnest.

The wounded will be arriving by ship and airplane loads. Mighty convoys will arrive and depart. Housing will be inadequate. The rest of the country may be squabbling over reconversion to peace time production, but this region will really be in the war.

Let's face this fact, and prepare for it. Whatever else our hardships may bring, they will help to bring our country victory. It is our opportunity, and the test we must pass to entitle us to the great future we all see for this area.

DREW PEARSON

DIPLOMACY AT SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO. — By all odds the most skillful diplomacy game at this conference has been played by dapper, dignified Anthony Eden of Great Britain. He has managed to come out as the friend of all sides, and most important of all, the mediator between Russia and the United States.

In other words, Eden has completely reversed the previous role of President Roosevelt, who up until his death had acted as the mediator between Churchill and Stalin.

The Churchill - Stalin rivalry was not merely personal. It was historic. It was based not only on the fact that Churchill just after the last war, urged the sending of Allied troops into Russia to help the White Russian generals overthrow the embryo Bolshevik regime, but that he flirted with the Cliveden set which in 1939 advocated war between Russia and Germany while England sat on the side lines.

This was the basis for the personal suspicion between him and Stalin. But historically, Churchill was carrying out a century-old British policy of isolating Russia. For 100 years, the country with the greatest land mass in the world, Russia, had been kept without a warm-water seaport by Britain, the country with the greatest navy in the world.

That rivalry was the reason for the Anglo-Japanese alliance, whereby the British, working through Japan, helped to stop Russia from getting Manchuria and a warm-water port on the Pacific.

That rivalry was behind Britain's sphere of influence in Persia (now Iran) to prevent Russian use of the gulf of Persia. That rivalry was also the cause of the Crimean war in which the British fleet and British troops actually landed on the same spot where Churchill, Stalin and Roosevelt later held their Yalta conference and waged a bloody battle to prevent the Czar from coming down to the Dardanelles and getting an outlet through the Mediterranean.

Finally this 100-years-old Russo-British rivalry was behind Britain's taking Latvia, Lithuania, Estonia and Finland away from Russia after the last war to block her outlet to the Baltic sea.

Roosevelt Sits in Middle.

That rivalry continued during the Teheran - Yalta conferences, with Stalin and Churchill both trading against each other and Franklin Roosevelt sitting in the middle.

At Teheran the argument was over a second front through the Balkans which Churchill favored, or through France, which Stalin favored. Churchill wanted the Allied armies to get into the Balkans—Russia's sphere of influence — and thereby keep the Russians out. He didn't want Allied armies ruining factories and alienating the population of western Europe—which was to be Britain's sphere of influence.

In the end Roosevelt tipped the scales in favor of Stalin—toward a second front through France.

Once at Teheran, Churchill trying to poke a little fun at Stalin, said: "Marshal, I have noticed that whenever anyone comes into contact with you they become slightly pink." To which Stalin replied: "And Mr. Prime Minister, any good doctor will tell you that pink is the healthiest of all colors."

And Roosevelt, wanting to pour oil on the troubled waters, said: "Gentlemen, let me remind you that there is nothing more beautiful than all the colors of the rainbow."

But at the end, as Churchill bade farewell to Stalin, there was still tension between them.

"Well, goodbye, marshal," said the prime minister, "I'll see you in Berlin."

"Yes," shot back Stalin, "I in a tank and you in a pullman car."

Stettinius Loses Out.

Roosevelt was shrewd enough to continue as middle man even at Yalta, despite the fact that he was slipping physically.

He kept both Russia and Great Britain in the position of playing up to the United States.

The loss of that strategic bargaining power is the most important development of this conference. Stettinius has lost what Roosevelt had and Anthony Eden has cleverly stepped into his place.

The United States has now slipped into the position of being the chief rival and potential opponent of Russia, while Eden has maneuvered so that England sits in the middle, able to throw its weight to one side or the other.

Lest we forget!

Now that the war is over for Germany, many in this country may feel that it is also over for us... that we can now let down, and relax.

Nothing could please Japan more. Nothing would hew so closely to her propaganda line.

We westerners understand this danger perhaps more than others. We may remember Pearl Harbor more clearly. And Bataan, Guadalcanal, Tarawa...

With the war over in Europe, the West will now become the great "marshalling yards" for the final Big Push against Japan. An enormous tide of troops and war materials undoubtedly will pour through to our seaports. Western railroads, housing, food supplies and shipping will be strained with the full weight of the nation's fighting effort.

We say this because—as far as the western railroads are concerned—many civilians may expect victory in Europe to mean better transportation service here. Actually, it may mean less room for civilians on the trains.

When the full tide of war traffic comes, we shall call on every resource to handle it. We shall run the war trains through.

First things come first until this war is over—and it isn't over yet.

Concert by Trio Of Noted Artists June 7

Next Thursday evening, June 7, offers one of the greatest musical treats, an evening of trio music as played by Adolph Baller, pianist; Roman Totenberg, violinist; and Gabor Rejto, cellist. The recital will be given in the small Montgomery theater in San Jose, which is located in the main auditorium building, and with its plush seats, slanting floor and small capacity, is ideally suited for chamber music.

Adolph Baller's superb piano playing and his sensational history are common knowledge to the public. Accompanist to Yehudi Menuhin, Mr. Baller's escape from Nazi tortures were related in Coronet Magazine recently, with the story of how he built up his crippled hands until he could play again. Mr. Baller's admission into American citizenship has made him more than ever beloved by the vicinity.

With Roman Totenberg, solo violinist of the New York Symphony, and Gabor Rejto, cellist of the Gordon String Quartet, Mr. Baller will play on next Thursday evening the Schubert B flat major Trio; the Beethoven C minor Trio, and the Dvorak "Dumky" Trio.

Tickets may be secured from the Denny-Watrous management, auditorium box office.

Hedda Hopper: Looking at HOLLYWOOD

ROBERT CUMMINGS is one man in Hollywood who's not only happy—he's got documents to prove it!

Wherever it is he keeps such things, Cummings has three pieces of paper, all signed and sealed, which would be to any one a reasonable guaranty of happiness.

Robert Cummings

The first is his newly acquired marriage license, the party of the second part being ex-actress Mary Elliott (ex" because she promised Robert to give up her career when they were married).

That document also is signed by Bob's mother, Mrs. Ruth Cummings, who at 71 is an ordained minister in the Science of Mind church in Los Angeles. Mrs. Cummings performed the wedding service at Mission Inn, Riverside.

The second document is a four-year term contract with the Hal Wallis productions which guarantees Bob the opportunity of reestablishing himself in pictures. The kid's been away from the screen for two years, serving as an air flight instructor with the United States air forces.

He's Got Everything

The third bit of paper is his medical certificate attesting that he passed the air forces' most rigid examination with points to spare—thus Cummings officially is healthy, he's in love, and he's got a good paying job.

"Those papers mean a lot to me," he said, "but they wouldn't guarantee a thing except for my philosophy."

It's a little odd to talk to Bob about philosophy. His words and thoughts just don't seem to fit his face.

At 37 he looks like a college sophomore. He hasn't the sign of a night club bag under his eyes. The make-up man doesn't have to camouflage a network of crow's feet. His voice is pitched in boyish enthusiasm. He even stammers occasionally, when words bottleneck and jam in their eagerness to overflow. He's the type grandmothers describe as "that nice young man!"

On the set of "You Came Along," where Bob is making his screen reappearance for Hal Wallis, Bob's mind took a philosophical turn.

"Tardiness, I think, is the cardinal sin," he said. "People who get a lot of bad breaks usually have only themselves to blame. It's because they're most always a few beats behind the normal rhythm of life, and they get into trouble because they're always hurrying to get caught up."

A simple thing like getting up in the morning a half hour earlier than is necessary, Bob believes, would straighten out most people and change the course of their lives.

It's Worth Trying

"It's this way," Bob explained. "You approach your day unhurried. You have the opportunity of planning your course of action. No need to rush and fumble. Each task gets the benefit of your complete mental and physical energy. Your work improves, no matter what it may be. Your projects begin to succeed. The result is that people begin to look at you and say, 'What a lucky guy he is!'

"It's timing, that's all."

Bob declares that acting isn't nearly as important to him now as it once was.

"The main reason I'm back in front of the camera now in 'You Came Along' is that the government feels it will aid the war effort, and that's the only kind of pictures I want to appear in for the duration."

Although Bob's contract with Wallis is for four years, he is at liberty to act only by permission of the army air corps, from which he has been granted leave. When the picture is finished he expects to report back for active duty.

It's a far cry from the time when I first saw Bob, then an unknown, working with Deanna Durbin in "Three Smart Girls" at Universal. At that time I saw him in two small scenes, but the kid had something and I wondered where in the world they'd been keeping him all this time. I told Bob that day that he eventually would be making $4,000 a week. He blushed and laughed it off.

Parenthetically I might add in a typographical aside, "Bob, I told you so!"

It's Too, Too Bad

Bill Goetz is doing a slow burn over Orson Welles' antics. If Orson doesn't feel like it, he just doesn't show up for work on "Tomorrow Is Forever." His sponsor got fed up. That's why Herbert Marshall is doing "This Is My Best." Three technicians who've been devoted to him walked out on his last show. . . . Charles Koerner seeks the impossible. He's trying to find a young Ronald Colman for "Power of Darkness." Rosalind Russell's next for RKO will be "Sister Kenny."

Study this wartime Billboard

The Cost of Living Figures are based on U. S. Department of Labor statistics. The Cost of Gas and Electricity is based on rates paid by the average residential customer in San Francisco.*

Prices of most everyday items always rise in wartime. It has been the same way through two World Wars, with one important exception...your gas and electricity. • Since 1914, your gas and electric rates have consistently gone down and stayed down. That is the reason why you are now using many more home appliances and using them for more hours per day than ever before, at the same low cost. ••• In times of peace and war... through depression and prosperity...the P. G. and E. Gas and Electric service has been dependable and cheap.

Most Living Costs Today are UP but the Cost of Gas and Electricity is WAY DOWN.
